University College Dublin invites applications for the positions of College Lecturer in Supply Chain Management in the Management Subject Area of the UCD School of Business.

UCD School of Business is Ireland’s leading business school and research centre. In 2009 we officially celebrated 100 years of business education.

The UCD School of Business consists of the UCD Michael Smurfit Graduate School of Business (‘the Smurfit School’) and the UCD Quinn School of Business (‘the Quinn School’) focused on undergraduate education. The Smurfit School is located at Blackrock about five kilometres away from the Belfield campus while the Quinn School is located on the main campus. Academic staff teach in both schools.

One of the keystones of the School’s reputation as one of the world’s leading business schools is the quality and expertise of our Faculty. We are the only business school in Ireland to hold the triple crown of accreditation from AACSB (US), EQUIS (Europe) and AMBA (UK). We are the only Irish member of CEMS, a global alliance of leading business schools and multinational companies. We are a founder member of the Yale-led Global Network for Advanced Management.

We have been consistently ranked in the top 100 business schools in the Financial Times’ highly competitive global full-time MBA rankings.

The mission of the School is to cultivate an environment of excellence in business education and to foster life-long learning and innovation in the preparation of promising people for positions of increasing responsibility and leadership in Ireland and abroad. This has been defined in its mission statement:

To be the leader in business education in Ireland and among the leaders in Europe by providing bold, imaginative educational programmes informed by an intensive commitment to research, discovery and innovation.

The core values of the School are excellence in research and teaching, collegiality within the university, and a willingness to change and accept diversity. The School is committed to continuous improvement and increasing aspirations in regard to teaching and knowledge creation and dissemination.

The Management Subject Area at UCD is the largest of the subject areas in the School of Business. The principal areas of academic specialty lie in the core business areas of entrepreneurship and innovation, international business, organizational behaviour, strategy, supply chain management, and technology management.
